Item 4 – Advisory Business

Quality Asset Management has been providing investment advisory services since 2004. Gil Hanoch has been the principal owner of QAM since its inception. The services we provide include:

1. An interview to determine your financial situation, objectives, time horizon and risk tolerance;
2. Construction of an asset allocation to fit your specific needs;
3. Reconstruction of the asset allocation when your financial situation changes;
4. Rebalancing of your portfolio based on a quarterly periodic review; and
5. Rebalancing of your portfolio using your deposits and withdrawals.
6. Potential risk reduction during extreme market conditions.

We will choose an asset allocation with the goal of maximizing returns, given the information you provide during the interview. We will implement this goal at the portfolio level, by diversifying globally primarily to mutual funds, ETFs and other asset pools, selected based upon the historical data of their returns, and backed by logic.

You may impose restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities.

We will seek increased returns by reducing costs and increasing after-tax returns. We will seek this goal, whenever appropriate, primarily using mutual funds and ETFs with no-load, low turnover, tax-managed mutual funds and discount brokers.

Past performance does not guarantee future returns. Different types of investments involve varying degrees of risk, and there can be no assurance that any specific investment will be profitable.

We will provide you with quarterly statements showing the market value and internal rate of return of the portfolio and all investment management fees presented to your custodian.

Based on the written asset allocation, we will have discretionary trading authority in respect to the choice and number of securities to be bought and sold.

Retirement Accounts: When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interests ahead of yours. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice).
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice).

- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments.
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest.
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services.
- Give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

We earn advisory fees when you roll over a retirement account to an account that we manage. We will recommend a rollover only when we believe it is in your best interest.

As of 1/1/2024, we managed $38,374,741, all with discretionary trading authority.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

We charge annual management fees for our services, and this is our sole form of compensation for our services to you. We calculate our fees based on the value of the assets in the account, as reported by the custodian by the quarter end, including pending transactions that settle after the quarter end. Notes: (a) the fee applies to cash in the account (and may exceed the money market yield). If cash would be left in the account for an extended period, it would be done for risk planning; (b) there is no fee on investments made on margin.

The fees are charged quarterly in advance, based on the value of the portfolio at the end of the preceding calendar quarter. Fee rates are not negotiable. The annual fee is 0.96%.

Other companies may charge additional fees for their services to you. Your account custodian charges transaction fees / brokerage commissions. The mutual fund and ETF companies charge additional fees, and disclose them in the fund prospectus. We do not receive any portion of these fees. We strive to maximize your returns after all costs, and take into account the impact of fees when choosing your investment vehicles. Item 12 below provides further details regarding our brokerage practices.

The initial fee will be due and charged on the first day of the first quarter of the contract being in effect, and will include a fee prorated for the additional days of each amount in the prior partial quarter.

We will send you a quarterly invoice, detailing the calculation of the fee based on the value of assets in the account. You will specify in writing if there is a mistake. The custodian will deduct fees from your account upon presentation of a bill matching your invoice.

You can terminate the agreement at any time, by providing written notice to us. We will refund fees paid beyond the date of termination (the regular quarterly fee, multiplied by the number of days beyond the date of termination, divided by the total number of days in the quarter). If terminated within five (5) business days after the date of signature, we will refund all charged fees; provided, however, that any investment action that we took with respect to the portfolio prior to the termination will be at your risk.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

We do not charge any performance-based fees. These are fees based on a share of capital appreciation of the assets of a client.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

We provide portfolio management services to individuals and high net worth individuals. QAM has a negotiable minimum account size of $4,000,000 per household. There could be exceptions to this minimum, including servicing existing clients that are below the current minimum.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

We invest primarily using mutual funds and ETFs, and may use other asset pools. In addition, we may provide advice on other investment types that existed in your initial portfolio.

We construct an asset allocation, obtaining a globally diversified portfolio, based on your financial situation, objectives, time horizon, and risk tolerance.

Once the portfolio is constructed we tend to hold it for a long period. Reasons for selling involve:

1. Your withdrawals
2. Rebalancing the portfolio according to your individual plan
3. Infrequent changes based on research of long-term behavior of the investments
4. Infrequent changes thanks to the introduction of better investment vehicles
5. Potential risk reduction during extreme market conditions

Investing in securities involves risk of loss that you should be prepared to bear.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

We have no legal or disciplinary events that would be material to your evaluation of us or the integrity of our management.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

We are independent. We have no affiliation, relationship or arrangement that is material to our business or to you as a client. Specifically, we have no relationship that may create a material conflict of interest with you.

We do not receive any economic benefit from anyone but you in connection to giving advice to you. This means that no one but you creates a financial incentive to service you in a certain way.

We do not get paid for client referrals.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics

We have an affirmative duty of utmost good faith to act solely in your best interest, and are subject to the following specific fiduciary obligations when dealing with you:

- The duty to have a reasonable, independent basis for the investment advice provided;
- The duty to obtain best execution for your transactions where we are in a position to direct brokerage transactions for you;
- The duty to ensure that investment advice is suitable to meeting your individual objectives, needs and circumstances;
- The duty to protect the confidentiality of your information; and
- A duty to be loyal to you.

Block Trades may be used for buying or selling a security on behalf of multiple clients at the same time. The transaction will be prorated, to provide each participating client with the same price, for equal treatment.

We will not perform any insider trading activity.

A complete copy of our Code of Ethics is available upon request (to all clients and prospects).

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

No soft dollars: We do not pay commissions to brokers in return for research or research-related products. There is no use of “soft-dollars”. We do not choose brokers based on offer of client referrals.

Having said that, custodians & investment providers offer free products and services, whether we want them or not. Benefits that don’t directly benefit our clients, and do benefit us, present a conflict of interest. We act as a fiduciary, choosing custodians and investment providers based on the benefit to our clients’, putting their interests first.

Suggested brokers: We will let you choose between brokers we chose to work with (may be as few as one). The brokers are chosen based on offering the funds used, best trade execution (including but not limited to transaction price), other account fees and level of service.

We do not accept your instructions for directing your brokerage transactions to a particular broker-dealer, to avoid the risk of you getting disadvantaged by limiting our ability to choose the best one for you.

Commission rates paid: The selection of broker dictates the commission rate. Once the broker is selected, you will be subject to the commission rate imposed by that broker.

Aggregation: Block Trades may be used for buying or selling a security on behalf of multiple clients at the same time. The transaction will be prorated, to provide each participating client with the same price, for equal treatment.

Principal transactions and agency cross transactions: We do not engage in principal transactions or agency cross transactions on behalf of client accounts. Principal transactions occur where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account, buys securities from or sells securities to an advisory client. Agency cross transactions occur where a person acts as an investment adviser in relation to a transaction in which the adviser, or an affiliate of the adviser, acts as broker for both the advisory client and for another person on the other side of the transaction.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

The owner of QAM, Gil Hanoach will review your accounts no less than quarterly. He may rebalance your accounts in case of a significant deviation of an asset class from the target allocation, subject to various considerations including taxes, transaction costs, and others.

We will provide you with written quarterly statements showing the market value, and internal rate of return of the portfolio. These statements will be in addition to any statements issued by custodians.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

We receive payment solely from you for providing you with investment advice. No one else provides us any economic benefit for serving you, to avoid any conflict of interest from receiving payments from multiple sources.

We do not provide compensation for client referrals, to prevent any potential for, or appearance of, a conflict of interest.

Item 15 – Custody

You should receive at least quarterly statements from your qualified custodian that holds and maintains your investment assets. We urge you to carefully review such statements and compare such official custodial records to the reports that we provide to you. Our statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

We receive discretionary authority from you at the outset of an advisory relationship to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold. Any account opened will provide us with limited power of attorney for trading and deduction of fees. In all cases, we will exercise such discretion in a manner consistent with your stated investment guidelines, limitations and restrictions. You must provide us with investment guidelines and restrictions in writing.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

We have no authority to vote proxies on your behalf. You will receive proxies or other solicitations directly from your custodian or a transfer agent. We may offer assistance as to proxy matters upon your request, but you always retain the proxy voting responsibility.

Item 18 – Financial Information

We have no financial condition that is likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to you, and have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.
